Nearly every home has valuables that attract burglars: TVs, computers, stereos, cash, credit cards, appliances and more. Even worse, a simple burglary can often escalate into violence, putting you and your family at risk.

These Features Help You Put Together Your Personal Security System

Advanced Sensors. Choose from a variety of door/window sensors, motion sensors, smoke and heat sensors, carbon monoxide sensors, portable panic buttons—even environmental sensors that warn you of furnace failure and flooded basements. Easy keyfob control.

Optional Light Control. Lights always come on in an emergency, illuminating your way to safety. Lights can come on automatically when you enter your home and give you time to exit before turning off automatically. You can control individual lights and also flash lights to scare an intruder away.

Optional Phone Interface Module. Control your system with any touchtone phone—including your cellular phone—at home or anywhere in the world. When away, simply call home to see if everything is OK. Concord gives you a complete status report.

Paging. Concord can send a numeric message to your pager in response to security events. Paging is ideal for parents. When children arrive home and disarm the system, the control panel calls the Central Station and/or pager to let you know your child is safe at home. The panel can also call the pager if children haven't arrived home by their scheduled time.

Voice Circuitry. When you arm the system, the voice reassures you if you've done it correctly and alerts you if you haven't.

Chime. A chime can sound when a door is opened, letting you know when someone has arrived.

Optional Phone Supervision. Alerts the Central Monitoring Station if your telephone line has been tampered with or cut.

Optional Energy Saver Module. Concord can set your thermostat to control heating and air conditioning while you're away. This can cut 10% to 20% from your energy bills.
